

Payroll Talk

April/May 2017

The Organization for Payroll Professionals

Has sprung!

Yes, I know it is practically over, but that doesn't stop me from using it as my newsletter theme!

Speaking of spring, our very own Tim Wallen has sprung into action, and is diligently getting our conference line-up finalized. Expect to receive specific details about speakers, registration, etc. very soon! Go ahead and mark your calendars for August 18 – you will not want to miss this one!

What else has been happening? I'm so glad you asked, we've had a couple of great meetings since our last newsletter. In April, Bob Daugherty's Security Update presentation was scary and enlightening. He provided statistics and predictions on cyber crimes and criminals, and let me just say they are way worse than lions, tigers and/or bears!! As payroll professionals, we must always be on guard to protect the security of employee information from the bad guys! Fortunately, Bob followed up with some great ideas on partnering with your company's IT team as well as personal actions you can take to keep your data safe and sound!

Which brings us to May's meeting, where our perennial man of the year, Tim Wallen, presented his take on Payroll 101. You know, the critical, back-to-basics, FUNDamentals of payroll that make up our day to day workload. Thanks to Tim for giving us a refresher course!

In June, representatives from the Louisville Metro Revenue Commission will be on tap – so check your email for the Sign Up Genius link! Hope to see you there!

Do you have questions or feedback? Check out the PPK website and reach out to any of our Officers!
<http://www.ppklou.org/>

Contact Amy Kirk if you are interested in a PPK shirt, we now order Ladies sizes!

April & May birthdays!

Kaiser, Michelle 4-Apr
Brown, Teresa 8-Apr
Shive, Lori 15-Apr
Connor, Patricia 19-Apr
Thayer, Eugenia E 29-Apr

Wallen, Tim 4-May
Nix, John 7-May
Stringfellow, Cyndie 7-May
Coffey, Kathy 19-May
Acosta, Celina 26-May

© wondercliparts.com

Save The Date!

*Your 2017 PPK Conference is August 18,
at the Audubon Country Club
Birds of a Feather, Payroll Flies Together!*