

Payroll Talk

June/July 2017

The Organization for Payroll Professionals

Got plans to dip your toes into a nice cool body of water this summer? Or any other fun vacation plans?

Well, just make sure you are back in town on August 18, it's the PPK Annual Conference, and it is bigger and better than ever! Heck, our emcee, Keith McGill, is worth the price of admission alone, but add on the RCH credits, the networking, and being out of the office for a full day, it just cannot get any better! And might I suggest, this is a great payroll team-building opportunity for those of you who want to share this day of fun and education with co-workers, managers, or even colleagues from a different company.

Registration is now open and Early Bird pricing in effect through July 21st. Check your email Inbox for registration information from Tim Wallen. Also, you can go directly to our PPK website <http://www.ppklo.org/Events.html> and check the Events page for the registration link.

As for other exciting news – PPK is now taking nominations for the 2017 Kentuckiana Payroll Person of the Year, our first ever! Nomination info can be found on our website's Home page. The Deadline is Monday, July 17 – so don't delay, submit your nomination today!

Our July meeting on the 21st, we will be bringing back Ann Mulcahy from Epic Employer Resources.
